

The U.S. Department of Education requires all educational institutions that receive Federal funds to hold an educational program on the United States Constitution on September 17 of each year.

Constitution Day became a national observance in 2004, when Senator Robert Byrd passed a bill designating September 17 as the day for citizens to commemorate the signing of the U.S. Constitution and learn more about our founding document. Senator Byrd once said, “Our ideals of freedom, set forth and realized in our Constitution, are our greatest export to the world.” He added the Constitution Day clause to his 2004 federal spending bill because he believed that all citizens should know about their rights as outlined in the Constitution. This clause mandates the teaching of the Constitution in schools that receive federal funds.

Beal University celebrated Constitution Day on September 17, 2024. The locations observed Constitution Day by sharing our Constitution Day Lib Guide to all students, staff, and faculty. The Lib Guide contains a variety of activities to test the students’ knowledge about the U.S. Constitution.
